OREGON, MO., OCTOBER 6, 1871 "Pu half inclined to do it," as the soldier said when he touched his toes with his fingers.

A Cincinnati servant girl stole two wag in loads of furniture while the famlly were at the theatre.

They tell of a man out West whose half is so red that he has to wear fly-nets over his head to keep the candle moths from flying in.

"It is a poor rule that won't work both ways," exclaimed the boy, as he threw the ferule at the school-master's

There is an old fellow in Brooklyn who sng es so loud, that he is obliged to sleep at a house in the next street, to avoid awakening himself.

An Obio convict was married recently, and on the next day departed from his bride, to serve out a three years' sentence.

A San Francisco doctor advertised for a "good office cat." He has already re-crived 243 fellnes, with the Southern counties yet to hear from.

A carpenter, being asked for a riddle. propounded the following: "I picked it up; I couldn't find it: I put it down, and went along with it." No one could guess it. It was a splinter in his foot.

"I live in Julia's eyes," said an affected daudy in Coleman's hearing. "I don't wonder at it," replied George, "since I observed she had a sty in them when I saw her last."

An old lady from one of the rural districts, astonished a clerk in one of the stores a few days ago, by inquiring if he had any "yaller developments sich as they did up letters in." How those old musical composers did continue to live on in Paris! Anber,

"Papa, is a vice one of those strong iron things that takes hold with such a grip, and gets tighter and tighter at every turn until it crushes?" "Yes, my son, and if you are wise you will keep out of them."

The New York Mail reports that the natives of a Connecticut village gave a young lady visitor who dressed in the very height of the present fly-away style, with ribbons, dangles and stream-ers, the complimentary appellation of "the devil's rag bag."

A Nashua gentleman said to an old lady who had brought up a femily of children near the river, "I should think you would have lived in constant fear that some of them would have got drowned." "Oh, no," responded the old lady, "we only lost three or four that

An intoxicated man saw two cars passing him the other evening with red and blue lights in the front and rear. His fuddled brain comprehended colored lights, and he was heard to say to him-they're running drug stores round on wh(hic) wheels."

One day a little girl, about five years old, heard a preacher praying most justify, till the roof rang with the strength of his supplications. Turning to her mother, and beckoning the maternal ear to a speaking distance, she whispered "Mother, don't you think that if he liv-ed nearer to God, he wouldn't have to talk so loud ?"

What William Tell did as a matter of fiction, Captain Travis performed as a matter of fact in Cleveland the other evening, where he shot an apple from the head of a boy 12 paces distant, send-ing a bullet clean through the centre of the apple, which remained undisturbed on the heads because on the boy's head.

The following advertisement has appeared in the Morristown Jerseyman:

The meloncholic days are proving par-ticularly fatal in Virginia. A colored citizen visited his neighbor's patch one evening last week, and was found lying there next morning with the top of his head blown off. The coroner's jury were unable to decide whether the sad event resulted from the premature ex plosion of a melon, or a charge of buck-

OH. THUNDER!—A pair of good-natured Irishmen, on a certain occasion, occupied the same hed. In the morning one of them inquired of the other, "Dennis, did you hear the thunder last night?" "No, Pat; did it thunder?" "Yes, it thunderd as if heaven and sirth would come together." "Why, thin, didn't ye wake me, for you know it thin, didn't ye wake me, for you know ean't slape when it thunders?"

DISCUSTED.—A rural gent of eighteen summers invested in a banana on the cars, at Danbury, the other day. He carefully removed the peel, and put it on the seat by his side; then he broke the fruit up into small bits, eyeing it anxlously as he did so. When this was done he picked up the peel, shook it in his lap, and finally threw the pieces out his lap, and finally threw the pieces out of the window, remarking as he did so, "That's the fust of them prize packages I ever bought, an' it's the last, you bet.'

An old Brooklyn gentleman started to go to Albany, a short time since, and almost as soon as on board the train, asked the conductor if the next station was Poughkeepsie, repeating his question was Poughkeepsie, repeating his question at each succeeding stopping-place, wattl the trate official curtiy said he would tell him when they got there, and upon arriving exclaimed, "this is Poughkepsie; hurry up and get off; we are behind time,"

Travelers should always carry a bottle of Radway's Ready Relief with hem. The following states the case rather strongly, but a correspondent of the New England Hom stad says every word of it is true. We think he must be mistaken, and that some one has imnesed upon him, but as he seems to be-lieve it and desires others to have the lieve it and desires others to have the benefit o his discovery, we give it a place in our columns: "A gentleman of our acquaintance had a Durham cow that gave hirth, all at one time, to a two year old heifer that had no legs at all. Mr. Jones took a five eighths auger, and bored holes where the legs ought to and bored holes where the legs ought to be, and then drove in the legs of an old wash bench. HANNAH ON THE RAIL.-There is a station on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railroad called Hanna, in honor of a deceased citizen of Fort Wayne. A train stopped there the other day, and the brakeman, after the manner of his class, thrust his head inside BURLINGTON ROUTE the door and cated out "Hanna," loud and long. A young lady, probably en-dowed with the poetic appellation of Hannab, supposing he was addresing her, and shocked at his familiarity on so short an acquaintance, frowned like a "thunder cloud, and retorted, "Shut your mouth!" He shut it.

In Parliament, the other day, a "noble lord," received a dispatch from his wife, which he read, "I flee with Mr.—to Dover, straight. Pray for me," Calling a cab, my lord took a special train to Dover, ransacked the town without success, returned home, found my lady, proceeded to kick up an infernal row, and was only pacified when the original dispatch was produced, reading, "Tea with Mrs.—Dover street, Stay for me,"
